THE STAR PRESS

MUNCIE

Indianapolis attorney and accessibility consultant Gregory S. Fehribach will speak to Ball State University students today on the topic of "The Politics of Disability" as part of Disability Awareness Month activities.

The presentation is scheduled for 4 p.m. today in Teachers' College, Room 005, and is sponsored by Disabled Student Development and Disabled Students in Action.

Fehribach first became involved in the political process as a student at Ball State when he was elected student body president in 1979, marking the first time in the school's history a disabled student had served in that position.

Fehribach's company, The Fehribach Group, has advised several high-profile universal design projects in the last six years, enhancing accessibility through use of ramps, elevators, and proper signage. Recent Fehribach Group projects include the Lucas Oil Stadium, the Midfield Terminal at the Indianapolis International Airport and the Indiana Convention Center expansion.
